A Terrible Danger in Natural Gas.

Two hundred years ago in China Shaving, shampooning and hair cutting there was just such a craze about Everything neat and clean. Step right in, natural gas as we have in this countay to-day. Gas wells were sunk Vice President | Celestials were capable of, but owseveral millions of people and tore up and destroyed a large district of country, leaving a large inland sea, known on the maps as Lake Foo Charg, the boring of any more gas wells was then and there prohibited by law. It seems, according to Chinese history, that many large and heavy pressure gas wells were struck. and in some districts wells were snnk lighted as soon as struck, as in this

It is stated that one well, with its unusual pressure, by induction or back draught, pulled down into the well, resulting in a dreadful explosion of a large district, destroying the inhabitants thereof. Lake Foo Chang rests on this district. The same catastrophe is imminent in this country unless the laws restrict further developments in boring so many wells. Should a similar explosion occur there will be such an upheaval as will dwarf the most terrible earth quakes ever known. The country along the gas belt, from Toledo, through Ohie, Indiana and Kentucky will be ripped up to the depth of 1,200 to 1,500 feet and flopped over like a pan-cake, leaving a chasm that he should subthrough which the waters of Lake scribe for the paper Erie will come howling down, filling 130 & 132 Pearl St., N. Soon after Mr. Clark arrived, the quails began to droop, and Mr. Clack, out of compassion, liberated them. The quails multiplied, increased and replenished the earth, until there is now a large flock of them in the Antioch country. They are one of the best game birds known, considerably larger than the common quail, and should be religiously protected. Every sportsman should spare the California quail. - Glasgow (Ky.) Times.

Kansas Sugar.

ham said:

FORT SCOTT, KAN., September 27. -Among the prominent men who visited the Parkinson sugar works yesterday was Colonel E. H. Cunningham, the largest sugar planter in southern Texas. He was accompanied by his manager and sugar expert, R. A. Wilkerson. In a conversation with a Times representative last evening, Colonel Cunning.

"I came here especially to see your sugar works," said the colonel, and to learn the truth or falsity of the reports sent out from this place regarding this important subject of sugar making. With my sugar expert, Mr. Wilkerson, than whom I there thoroughly informed and practical in the south, we have a careful, I may say critical, examination of the Parkinson works and the methods and processes there used. I had read Commissioner Colman's remarks upon the work being done, and knowing the man well, had confidence in what he said. But I was not prepared to see the complete and wholly unquestionable success in sugar making from sorghum that I have witnessed to-day. The industry is established beyond a question. The process is simple, cheap and certain. Sugar is being made to-day cheaper in Fort Scott than we can possibly make it with our old methods in Texas or Louisiana."

To the question as to what the southern planter will do, in view of this latter fact, the colonel said: "We must improve our methods. Judge Parkinson and Prof. Swenson have pointed out the way. Sorghum grows luxuriantly in Texas. I have secured the seed and arranged for the necessury appliances to manufacture sugar from both sorghum and tropical cane npon my plantation next year. I can thus secure a continuous crop for six month in the year. Texas will be the greatest sugar producing country in the world.' Mr. Wilkerson said: "I came here with Colonel Conningham questioning, doubting. I go away tonight with every doubt removed and a confidence in the value of the sorghum plant for sugar making born of seeing and knowing. It is strange that Louisiana planters should come to Kansas to learn the art of sugar making. And yet I have to-day seen good sugar made at a profit from sorghum cane. Yes, Kansas is to be a great sugar state. I regard the work done here as of almost inconceivable value to the country. The whole country owes a duty of gratal tude to the gentlemen here who have worked out under so many discouragements these wonderful results. I shall never again speak contemptously of sorghum. It will make Kansas a sugar producing state, and add unfold wealth to Texas, mal the country more homogeneous, aid greatly in settling the tariff question."-Special correspondent to the
